These two young ladies who have very little time at their command, are deserving of a great deal of praise for the munificent and successful surprise they gave their pastor.

CHARLESTON.

Its Business Houses and Enterprising Merchants.

EDITOR DAILY TOMBSTONE—Your correspondent has just completed a visit to the thriving little town of Charleston, situated on the east side of the San Pedro river and about ten miles from Tombstone. Its population numbers about 400 souls all of whom are enterprising people. Its principal trade is with Sonora. And the cattle men along the San Pedro. Among its principal merchants we will mention the following:

Sam Katzman is a large store, but it is not as well stocked as he usually keeps it, as he has reduced his stock owing to his intention to close out business.

Herrera & McClure, dealers in general merchandise keep a large and complete stock of goods on hand, they also have a large wood contract to furnish wood for the various mills and mines. They are doing a good business and are prospering.

Herman Welisch is also dealing in general merchandise, and is a pioneer of Charleston. His store is well stocked with goods and he is doing a thriving business.

J. Welisch, proprietor of the Mechanics Store, is doing a commission and merchandise business. This store is a branch of his San Francisco house, which is situated at numbers 32 and 34 Sansome street. The Charleston store is stocked with goods of every description, and is doing a large business.

The weary and hungry traveler can always find good cheer at the International restaurant, which is conducted in first-class style by William Witt.

The Eagle hotel, a first-class hotel, is conducted by Mrs. Vaughn.

Messrs. Waffle & Garlock conduct a first-class meat market; they also conduct the O. K. corn, where stock is always well cared for.

Samuel McLaren is a constable for this burg; he also conducts the village barber shop.

Capt. M. A. Converse conducts Young's saloon, and keeps nothing but the choicest Kentucky whiskies and the best of cigars. This is quite a resort for Tombstoners when they visit Charleston.

J. W. Stewart is deputy sheriff here; he also owns and conducts the Pioneer saloon. He is known by almost everybody in the territory, and consequently the Pioneer is a favorite resort.

J. B. Ayers, whom not to know is to be unknown yourself, owns and conducts a first-class saloon here, and is doing a good business. He has but recently returned from the east, where he purchased a supply of the choicest liquors and the finest cigars. This is also the headquarters for Jimmy Carr's freighting team. He has a large blacksmith and wagon shop here, and employs quite a number of men.

The village school here is conducted by Miss Ella Foy, who is loved and respected both by parents and scholars.

The Tombstone Mill and Mining Company are running their smelter and concentrator and are putting through about 80 tons per day. They employ about 60 men. The mill has closed down here, and they are working the Girard mill in Tombstone.

I cannot close without thanking the good people of Charleston for courtesies shown me.

Yours respectfully,
JOHN W. CORWELL.

EDITOR DAILY TOMBSTONE—It is with pain and sadness that I take my pen in hand to inform you of the death of two of our citizens and frontiersmen at the hands of the blood-thirsty Apaches. On the 26th of this month William Harrison was on Turkey creek, seven miles from Fort Apache, hunting and taking care of Fort Dunlap's cattle. Mr. Dunlap, being the beef contractor at the above named fort, was killed by Indians who but a short time ago was in the employ of General Crook as scout, and as soon as they were discharged as such, purchased saddles and horses and equipped themselves with blankets etc. Their arms and ammunition they were allowed to retain by Gen. Crook. After they were mustered out at Fort Apache, it was discovered by Mr. Dunlap, that they were putting on their war paint and preparing to make a break, and he at once notified his herders to be on their guard, as he expected to see the entire lot of discharged scouts leave at any moment.

Mr. Harrison in company with a gentleman named William Waldo, who has a brother who is a lawyer in Santa Fe, New Mexico, did not apprehend any danger as the Indians acted friendly and were out to their camp every day, and the two herders went to their work as usual, thinking that there was no danger so near the post, and were at once set upon by the scouts and murdered like hogs, and left weltering in their life blood.

The scouts are so well acquainted with the ways of the Apaches, and their movements that they laugh at the idea of ever being detected by them, and boast that they could go right into the garden and kill the troops and then never be detected. How long, oh, how long is this farce going to last? The good people of this country are so engaged at this time killing that they are not ready to respond to a forced peace, the reservation and the Apaches killing there, and continue to go down and kill every time these blood-thirsty brutes kill a white man in Arizona or New Mexico.

Mr. Harrison was until recently foreman for H. C. Hooker, was always attentive to his duties and was esteemed by every one who knew him. May his soul rest in peace.

SURGE.

On Thanksgiving day Sid Ellsworth, well known throughout this country, and who has been driving the stage between this place and Doz Calvez, committed suicide by shooting himself through the left lung while eating his Thanksgiving dinner. His intention must have been to shoot himself through the heart. He lay nine hours after the fatal shot. He gave no reason for his rash act. He committed the deed with a Smith & Wesson 38.

W. S. Davis.

Wilcox, Nov. 27, 1885.

Gen. Crook's scouts that were mustered out a few weeks since after receiving seventy-five dollars per month for five months out of Uncle Sam's treasury, have expended their money and purchased ammunition and other utensils of war, Gen. Crook generously allowing them to retain their arms, and commenced their lawlessness by killing William Harrison and William Waldo, two herders of the well-known beef contractor, Fort Dunlap, within seven miles of Fort Apache. We are now hourly, yes, minutely, expecting to hear of the death of scores of the ranchmen and settlers in our neighborhood. We have heretofore refrained from harsh language against this officer, who once did the territory some good, but now, as some of our contemporaries have remarked, we say damn Crook, and may the curses of the friends and relatives of the murdered dead haunt every minute and every hour of the time that he has got to live upon this earth.

The committee appointed to make arrangements for the Tombstone Fine Department Ball, on New Year's Eve, will meet to-morrow, at 4 o'clock, at the Engine House, to appoint sub-committees and make general arrangements for the ball. A full attendance is requested. By order of THOMAS KEEFE, Chairman.

Rev. Dr. Willis arrived to-day from Fort Huachuca, and will preach to-morrow at the Presbyterian church.

The People's Paper Always to the Front When There is Anything to be Found Out.

An interesting letter from Charleston by our traveling correspondent, John W. Corwell, appears in another column.

Just opened twenty dozen of Perin's French kid and fine makes of ladies' shoes, at Summerfield Bros.

We don't think that the climate of Tombstone can be surpassed by any country in the world except Arizona. What state in the Union to-day can have tropical plants growing out of doors, and their doors and windows wide open except this smokiest land.

Ladies and children's shoes sold cheaper than anywhere else, at the New York Store.

Messrs. Wehrhitz and Broad have returned from Mud Springs. They report a courier having come in, stating that a band of Indians had come to the reservation and taken eleven squaws, and were now heading for Sonora. These gentlemen warned ranchmen in the Sulphur Spring Valley to be on their guard.

Blankets and quilts very cheap, at the New York Store.

"Elite."

If what the Record-Epiphany says this morning is true, i. e., that the paper will change hands on Monday and become a Republican paper, then our fight is ended and we can work for a common cause. But while it was owned by Berry and him for the benefit of land sharks, then we had to fight, and our real work was to have fought the battle.

Dyer & Baldwin have a fine lot of five Thanksgiving turkeys. 11-19

Mrs. Katie Morrison, of Tombstone, is visiting Clifton the guest of her mother, Mrs. Beardon, and sister Miss Frankie Burdick.—Clifton.

Our stock of boots and shoes are the finest this side of San Francisco, at Summerfield Bros.

The finest display of jewelry in the Territory at Seaman & Son. 11-18

Father Morin, the Parish Priest of Tucson, is visiting Clifton and vicinity in the interest of the church. It is his intention to erect a church in this section and, with this end in view has appointed Messrs. Vaughn, Solci-do and Campbell a committee to select a suitable site, collect subscriptions &c. We trust the efforts of the committee may be as successful as their object is praiseworthy. Father Morin visits Morehead to-day and will leave for Tucson via, Salomonville on Saturday.—Clifton.

Frank says always at hand at the Cash Store of Walcott & Meeker.

Services will be held to-morrow at the Methodist Episcopal church, in the morning at 11 o'clock, and in the evening at 7 o'clock (local time). Sabbath School will be held at 12 o'clock. Rev. G. L. Pearson, pastor.

Elegant Christmas and New Year presents can be obtained at H. Schmerding's Pioneer Jewelry establishment on Allen street.

The foreman (?) of the Record-Epiphany has got only one issue more in which to vent his spleen.

O. C. Smith had his preliminary examination to-day before Justice Easton and was held to answer before the grand jury of the County Court in the sum of $1,000. He immediately gave the required bond.

A PERSONAL CARD.

A Matter in Which the Public Should Have a Deal of Interest.

To THE READERS OF THE DAILY TOMBSTONE:

Why does the government spend so much money and risk so many lives in trying to capture the counterfeiters? Suppose he does counterfeit government bonds and notes, surely the government is rich enough to stand any loss his act may cost?

But the individual citizen is not allowed to be put to continual financial loss if such desperadoes were let go unwhipped of justice.

It is only the valuable thing that is counterfeited, it is only in the light of purity and virtue that impurity and vice can be known. No one in these days would count a counterfeit note or note.

People who count fraud always do it by stimulating the idea of a victim by playing on the chance of deception, by employing the fair name of virtue with which to give respectability.

Let us explain: Seven or eight years ago, so we have been informed many times in public prints, a New York state gentleman was pronounced, as many Indians have been pronounced before, increasing risk on an extreme disorder. He was in a condition which he believed was incurable, he was led to the New York Dispensary, which had been for several years employed by a select few physicians in New York city and one or two other prominent places. The result was that he was cured, he whom doctors without number and of composed ability said was incurable. Having secured possession of the formula, he was determined to devote a portion of his accumulated wealth to the manufacture and sale of this remedy for the benefit of the many who suffer as he suffered, in apparent hopelessness. In less than three years, so tremendous became the demand for this remedy and so exalted the reputation, that he was obliged for his purpose to erect a laboratory and warehouse containing four and a quarter acres of floor and filled with the most approved chemical and manufacturing devices. Probably there never was a remedy that has won such a meritorious name, such extraordinary sales and has accomplished so much good for the race.

Unprincipled parties, "who would only upon the ruin of others," saw in this reputation and sale an opportunity to reap a golden harvest, that legitimately, not honorably, for which purpose they have made imitations and substitutions of it in every section of the country, and many druggists, who can make a larger profit on these imitation goods, often compromise their honor by forcing a sale upon the unsuspecting customer.

Yes, undoubtedly the manufacturers could well afford to ignore such instances of fraud so far as the effect upon "themselves" is concerned, for their remedies have a constant and unvarying sale, but they feel it to be "duty" to warn the public against such imitations and substitutions, nameless and otherwise. The individual who buys them and the public who countenance their sale alone suffer in mind, body and estate thereafter.

The authors of some of these fraudulent practices have been presented and sent to prison for their crimes, but there is another class who claim to know the formula of this remedy and one Sunday school journal, we are told, has promised to advertise that for twenty-five cents it will send all new subscribers a transcript of the Warner formula. This formula, by the way, must be a wonderful, life-saving formula, for there is hardly a month passes when some paper is not issued which pretends to give the only correct formula.

The manufacturers inform us that they would be perfectly willing that the public should know what the true formula of Warner's safe cure is, (none that have been published are anything like it), but even if every man, woman and child in the United States were as familiar with this formula as with their A B C's, they could not compound the remedy. The method of manufacture is a secret. It is impossible to obtain the results that are wrought by this remedy if one does not have the perfect skill acquired only by years of practice for compounding and ascertaining the simple elements which enter into its composition.

The learned Dr. Foster, the honored head of Clifton Springs sanitarium, once said that having roughly analyzed this remedy he recognized that the elements that composed it were simple, but he attributed the secret of its power to the method of its compounding, and this method no one knows except the manufacturers and no one can acquire it.

Our advice to our readers, therefore, cannot be too strongly emphasized. As you would prefer virtue to vice, gold to dross, physical happiness to physical misery, shun the imitator and refuse thereby to lend your aid financially to those who seek to get, by trading upon another's reputation and honesty, a sale for wares and goods which on their merits are fit only to be rejected as the vilest refuse. You can neither afford to patronize such people nor can you afford to take their injurious compounds into your system. When you call for Warner's Safe Cure see that the wrapper is "black with white letters" and that the wrapper and label bear an imprint of "an iron safe," the trade mark, and that a safe is "blown in the back of the bottle" and that a perfect "legitimacy note stamp" is over the cork. You can't be imposed on if you observe these cautions.

We have the highest respect for the remedy we have mentioned and the highest regard for the manufacturers, and we cannot too highly commend their divided and considerate tone in relation to those who would traduce their fair names and ruin the best interest of the public in such matters.

SATURDAY, NOV. 28, 1885.

Minutes of last session read and approved.

The following actions were set for trial on Wednesday next:

T. D. Satterwhite vs. Pasqueal Nigro; B. Blackmore vs. Jas. Reilly; Mountain Mail Mining Co. vs. Jas. Reilly; Mountain Mail Mining Co. vs. J. J. Nash.

It was ordered by the court that a trial jury of twenty-four persons be drawn and that they be summoned to appear before the court Wednesday Dec. 10, 1885 at 9:30 a. m.

Whereupon court adjourned.

The gentleman who yesterday advertised in this paper for a situation as a butcher will please call at this office, as an answer awaits him.

THE DAILY TOMBSTONE was in great demand to-day, owing to the account of the Select Knights ball, which appeared in last night's issue.

THE DAILY TOMBSTONE issued an extra last evening apprising our citizens of the sad death of Vice-President Hendricks.

Sol Israel yesterday received a consignment of holiday goods from the east. Among other things was a handsome doll 3 1/2 feet high, and handsomely dressed, which will probably be raffled off. Children, especially the little girls, should go and see it; also parents, and see to it that one of their little ones will be the possessor of this handsome doll.

John O. Dunbar, the original owner and publisher of the Tombstone Republican, has purchased his old office and leased the material of the Record-Epiphany, and on Monday will take the trip of the last named journal. While we wish him all manner of success in his new venture, and extend the right hand of fellowship, we have only to say that since Mr. Dunbar left the Republican, it has assumed so many coats and characters that it will take careful engineering to steer it off the coast of Berry, and round the peninsula of Clum, if he would save being wrecked on the island of Tombstone.

Situation Wanted.

An experienced butcher desires a situation, either in the shop or slaughterhouse. Apply to William Ashton, this office. 11-29

Our reporter was in error yesterday in stating that Mr. Harris, who died in Charleston, was buried yesterday. Mr. Harris was buried to-day at 4 o'clock, Mr. Butler sending the hearse down from this city.
